

It's that time of year again - time for nicking IT jokes and trying to remember whether I've nicked them before

A TV can insult your intelligence, but nothing rubs it in like a computer.

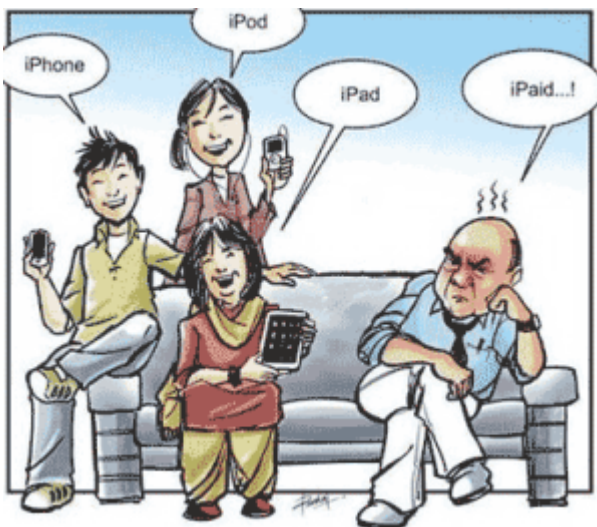

Mother: What do IDK, LY & TTYL mean?
Son: I don't know, love you, talk to you later.
Mother: OK, I'll ask your sister.

I was going to be a computer forensics expert, but couldn't hack IT.

Facebook should have a limit on the number of times you can update your relationship status. After 3 updates it should default to 'unstable'.

If the box says "This software requires Windows 7 or better", does that mean it'll run on Linux?

Someone broke into my house and stole my external hard drive. They really got my backup.

You have 10 updates:
six slow down your PC, three look very suspect, one randomly changes all your PC settings.

"Username and password, please."

My computer suddenly started belting out "Someone Like You." It's a Dell.

Why are iPhone chargers not called Apple Juice?

It said the password needed eight characters, so I put in snowwhiteandthesevendwarves.

Accidentally fell asleep smoking an e-cigarette and when I woke up my whole house was on the internet.
